Forecast For Scotland
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 0400 on Monday 08 Nov 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Mostly dry start. Rain spreading eastwards during the day.

Today:
Dry morning across eastern Scotland with early brightness. Rain along the West Coast spreading to rest of western Scotland this morning, turning more persistent, heavier. The rain extending eastwards to most places this afternoon. Mild with strengthening southerly winds.

Tonight:
Cloudy, mild for much of the night with further outbreaks of rain. Drier, clearer, cooler conditions will reach Northwest Scotland and Northern Isles later tonight.

Tuesday:
Cloudy skies and patchy rain will linger over southern Scotland in the morning. Otherwise a much brighter day with scattered showers, mostly over north and west Scotland. Brisk southwesterly winds.

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Sunny spells and scattered showers on Wednesday and Thursday, the showers mostly over western Scotland. A band of persistent rain crossing the country on Friday with strong westerly winds.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.